Building Total Tops $18 Million

Greatest Boom
In History Here
For Construction

Edmonton's greatest building boom has resulted in $18,000,000 of new construction to date this year. This amount represents new construction of all types, either completed or with permits having been taken out, until today. There are 2,500 structures.

Last year there had been $11,318,528 started for new construction up to the end of June.

City building department officials estimated early in the year construction here this year might reach the unparalleled total of $24,000,000 in 1949. Last year's total was over $17,000,000.

INCLUDED HOTELS
This estimate, however, covered projected construction of the $2,000,000 Clifton hotel, the $4,000,000 Federal building and the $4,000,000 proposed extension to the MacDonald hotel.

It now seems likely little more than a start will be made on any of these major projects this year. With permits for 12 houses being taken out today for an estimated value of $71,300, new residential building to date this year has a total value of $9,428,802 for 1,457 houses.

219 IN JUNE
The June total to date for 219 residences is valued at $1,224,350.

Last year, residential construction at the end of June was worth $3,308,300, representing 811 homes.

Girl Injured By Freight

DANVILLE, O., June 23.—(UP)—A Pennsylvania railroad diesel freight train derailed at a crossing today, smashed a three-year-old girl and scattered 17 cars along the right-of-way.

The state highway patrol said Bonnie Jean Hillman, 10, Fredericktown, daughter of the telegraph operator, suffered minor injuries. She was standing by the building when the freight car smashed into it. Her mother escaped injury.

MECHANICAL DEFECT
A witness at the depot said the freight car smashed a new automobile before it hit the building. Sixteen other cars were strewn along the right-of-way.

Railroad officials said the wreck apparently was caused by a mechanical defect in the first freight car to leave the tracks. The train was pulling 20 cars. Three empty tank cars and 14 box-cars loaded with miscellaneous freight were derailed.

Pilot Fined On Drunk Flying
NANAIMO, B.C., June 23.—Douglas Best, Nanaimo pilot who crashed April 2, was fined $300 yesterday for four charges of violating air regulations. He pleaded guilty to all charges.

Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts fined him $250 for piloting a plane while under the influence of alcohol. He was also fined $250 for each of the other three charges.

Denise Maffey, a passenger in the plane, suffered serious injuries when the light plane plummeted to earth. Best escaped injury.

Crazed East Killer
Buried At Suburb
SUDBURY, Ont., June 23.—(CP)—The body of Clarence Browne, a crazed factory worker who killed two policemen and a civilian and wounded four other persons in a gun battle here Saturday, was buried yesterday in a small back-country cemetery at Naim Centre, 25 miles southwest of Sudbury.

Merchants were worried at an argument with his wife and a brother-in-law.

Russians Stymie Offer To Work Berlin Railway

BERLIN, June 23.—(UP)—Russia refused today to move supply trains from western Germany into western Berlin despite an offer by railway strikers to handle them.

Emergency crews of 80 striking technicians reported for work at switches, railway yards and other street installations in western Berlin to handle trains from the west, but the lines remained idle.

The Soviet-backed railway administration said the strikers' offer was "an encroachment on the operation rights of the railways."

But Brig. Gen. Frank Howland, American commander in Berlin, said the strikers' proposals meant nothing if the Soviet-controlled railway administration rejects them.

However, the western powers have informed the Soviets that they desire for a trade pact between eastern and western Germany cannot be fulfilled until freight traffic from western Berlin is resumed.

MEET SLATED
The western commandants scheduled a regular meeting of their three-power Kommandatura for 2:30 p.m. today, and a discussion of the strike was on the agenda.

But Brig. Gen. Frank Howland, American commander in Berlin, said the strikers' proposals meant nothing if the Soviet-controlled railway administration rejects them.

Army Site Here Now 'Up in Air'

Sites Suggested
By Town Planners
Have Drawbacks

Site for a large Canadian Army ordnance depot in Edmonton is still "up in the air."

City Commissioners said today that sites suggested at a meeting of the Town Planning Commission Tuesday near Dunagan railway yards or just south of Calder would present great difficulties to servicing with water and sewer.

Town Planning Commission rejected application of the army to purchase a site in the Westmount Park district of the west end, recommending the depot be built near Dunagan or north of Calder.

NOT SO GOOD
As to the alternate sites, Commissioner D. H. Menzies said today: "The Dunagan and Calder sites would not be so good. The city would have to extend water and sewer mains approximately one mile in either case. That would be very costly."

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay also pointed out that water supply at Calder has been a problem in recent years.

The mayor said he thought there were possibly some factors about the site originally proposed in Westmount Park area that have come out at the Town Planning Board meeting.

MEETING TODAY
Major and commissioners are meeting today with Chairman W. T. Allen and Luke Winterburn to further discuss a site for the army depot.

Col. G. E. Brown, chief of staff of Western Army Command, said at the Town Planning meeting today it seemed likely the alternate sites would be acceptable to the military.

He said the army was most anxious to locate the depot in Edmonton close to the communications nerve centre for the northland. He stated the depot, when fully developed, would have 1,500 enlisted personnel and many civilians with an annual payroll of $2,500,000.

It was not an arsenal and there would be no bombs or explosives.

Town Planning Commission appointed a two-man committee to discuss alternate sites with the military.

After planning an inexpensive ad in the Bulletin, the grateful mother had to "phone your ad to the Bulletin at 26121 before 11:00 a.m. week days and 3:00 p.m. Saturdays for publication in the afternoon edition of the annual day.

CONVOY DUTY
Jamieson was on convoy duty with vehicles going to Wainwright military camp when the mishap occurred.

A passing motorist called an ambulance and doctor from Wainwright but Jamieson was dead on his arrival 20 minutes later.

CONVOY was part of a large military manoeuvre now in progress between the 15th and 16th Armoured Regiments in the area of Wainwright.

GRAVEL "TRICKY"
"Seizure" of Vermilion airfield was made yesterday by heavy tanks. Troops were to move to Wainwright for three days field practice.

ROOSTER HASN'T SPOT TO CROW IN

LONG BEACH, Ont., June 23.—(CP)—The rooster is on the alert in this suburban Toronto town.

Council members last night voted to ban roosters from the municipality, while permitting hens in flocks of 15 or more.

"We're not eliminating poultry," Reeve Lawrence said, "just controlling them."

Noise was the deciding factor.

Light Rains Help Crops, Forest Fires

Light showers in most parts of Alberta yesterday brought temporary relief to parched grain crops and aided fire fighters in checking northland bush blazes.

A few light showers are forecast for today and beginning tomorrow heavier frequent showers will bring rain throughout the province.

In northern Alberta, where more than 175 men are fighting 19 forest fires, cooler, damp weather prevented new blazes from breaking out.

11 UNDER CONTROL
Crews were able to bring 11 fires under control and may check the remaining eight today.

Most serious of fires still unchecked is one north of Lake, about 115 miles northeast of Edmonton. Crews of 60 men called for additional equipment yesterday in fighting the fire as it spreads through slash and scrub timber.

Light showers fell in the Slave Lake and Calling Lake regions where fires are burning. Some rain was also reported at Lac La Piche where five fires are being fought.

Grave Worry

An Edmonton mother faced a grave problem the other day and was at her wit's end until she consulted the Bulletin Want Ads department.

Her problem was: How to keep an important and expensive ornament when a baby-sitter was nowhere to be found in her neighborhood.

After placing an inexpensive ad in the Bulletin, the grateful mother had to "phone your ad to the Bulletin at 26121 before 11:00 a.m. week days and 3:00 p.m. Saturdays for publication in the afternoon edition of the annual day.

Exploration Only Fraction Complete

MINARI, Ont., June 23.—(CP)—The Alberta oil and gas industry has uncovered natural resources worth at least $2,500,000,000, C. O. Nickle of Calgary said today in an address to the Investment Dealers Association of Canada.

This, he added, despite the fact it has as far completed only a fraction of the ultimate through exploration job.

Mr. Nickle, publisher of the Edmonton Oil Bulletin, described the revelation that has taken place in western Canada since the discovery of the Leduc field, 20 miles southwest of Edmonton in Feb. 12, 1947.

$6 MILLION CROSS
In 1948 oil industry spendings in the west were $12,000,000. This year they will likely reach $18,000,000. In 1948 revenue from oil sales (gross value before operating costs, royalties and taxes) was $450,000,000. This year it will probably reach $600,000,000 although production is held down until winter markets can be pepped.

When Leduc was discovered only 30 drilling rigs were operating. Now there are some 40. There will be 15 geophysical exploration parties working. Now there are more than 70 parties and dozens of geologists in the field.

Oil production in 1947 was 7,300,000 barrels. This year it will likely be 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 barrels.

HUGE EXPLORATION
There were, before Leduc, about 200,000 acres of oil rights under exploration reservation in Alberta. Now that area has been increased to 1,000,000 acres.

Today, said Mr. Nickle, it may reach 2,000,000 acres. The development of fields already known is estimated at 1,000,000 barrels.

Slowly more and more billions of barrels will be added by further discoveries in Alberta's oil fields. However, he said, present reserves are little more than a part of the huge oil and gas resources of Alberta and prairie provinces.

It now is reasonable to expect," Mr. Nickle said, "that Alberta oil could within a few years make all Canada self-sufficient in petroleum."

Oil Deal Completed By U.S. Firms in Sask.

REGINA, June 23.—(CP)—Twelve United States oil companies have completed negotiations with the Saskatchewan government to explore and develop about 17,000 acres of land in the province.

The companies, which include the Canadian National Oil Corp., have agreed to develop the oil deal as part of the most extensive in Canada.

Companies taking part represent large producing, refining and marketing companies in the United States.

Six companies—Tidewater Associated Oil, Atlantic Refining, Houston Oil, Shell, Esso and Sun—are making arrangements to develop about 9,000,000 acres.

Chicago Corporation, Midstate Petroleum, Texas Gulf Oil, Republic Petroleum and Union Sulphur Corporation are involved in negotiations covering 1,000,000 acres.

Land covered in one group of permits extends west from Saskatoon to Rigger and south from Swift Current to Lake Johnston. A second block is situated in the Touchwood Hills area and a third block extending from Qu'Appelle Valley south to Carlyle and east to the Manitoba border.

Vatican Claims Bishops Tortured

Romanian Gov't Charged With Crushing RC Faith

VATICAN CITY, June 23.—(AP)—A Vatican source said today that two leading bishops of the outlawed United Church in Romania have been put to torture by Communist officials in an effort to break their allegiance to the Pope.

The United Church is a Romanian branch of the Roman Catholic faith. It was dissolved by the Romanian government last December. The source said the Communist regime in Bucharest is bent upon "wiping out the two branches of the Roman Catholic faith there, from the ground up and with the use of every means of terror, oppression and pressure."

This Vatican informant said the Communist regime demanded "United Church" bishops to join the outlawed Romanian faith. Six bishops refused. They were led by Monsignor Joe Suda, papal representative of the Metropolitan see of Fagaras and Alota Jila. This source said the Vatican informant gave this account:

Bishop Suda and five other United Church bishops were taken by police from their palaces and interned in an orthodox monastery in southern Romania last November. Orthodox prelates made a winter-long effort to persuade the United Church bishops to join the Romanian faith. They abandoned their loyalty to Pope Pius and adhered to the Roman Catholic faith.

TORTURE CLAIMED
"Later Suda was taken to the ministry of the interior building at Bucharest and disappeared into the iron and concrete torture chambers. The Vatican source said. The informant said it is known that Suda has been tortured, but it is not known whether he still lives. The Vatican informant said the United Church forms the present centre of attack by the Communist government, mainly because Lulu Maniu, imprisoned anti-Communist Romanian peasant leader, is a United Church believer.

The government, however, is also moving against the Latin branch of the church. The Vatican source said the government has deported three of the five Roman Catholic bishops of Romania.

Light Rains Aid Crops and Fires

fought and in the Whitecourt district where four fires are burning.

SMALL BLAZES
Smaller fires are reported in the Bayview and Edgewood districts, but crews are hopeful of controlling them today.

For grain crops, parched by driest June in history, showers brought temporary relief, but will have no permanent effect.

Two inches of precipitation are needed to relieve threat of crop failure, but yesterday's showers will provide sufficient moisture for two or three days.

Light rains also brought enough moisture to promote germination of seed dormant during the prolonged dry spell, although growth in areas where germination was spotty is expected.

LITTLE AID TO FORAGE
Pastures were aided little by showers, and the hay and feed crop is still threatened with complete failure.

Edmonton district received benefit of yesterday's showers with 2 inches of rain recorded.

About one-quarter of that amount was gained from Grande Prairie and Lesser Slave Lake in the north to Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Cowley in the south.

In the black soil belt, suffering most of the Alberta area from prolonged drought conditions, had been recorded 10 inches of rain in Calgary, Medicine Hat and Vermilion a trace.

At Edmonton today, skies will be partly cloudy, with occasional light showers this afternoon, and winds west at 15. Temperatures will be much the same as yesterday, with a high today of 73.

$74 Million Cost Set For Rail Unions' Bid

MONTREAL, June 23.—(CP)—The railways today estimated that demands made upon them last week by 16 non-operating brotherhoods on behalf of 135,000 workers would cost the companies more than $74,000,000 a year.

The joint statement, issued by N. B. Walton, executive vice-president of Canadian National Railways, and N. B. Crump, Canadian Pacific Railway vice-president, said the demands "are being studied."

7 CENT HIKE ASKED
Fifteen international brotherhoods representing about 100,000 workers asked for a general increase of seven cents an hour effective July 17, and a 40-hour week, as against the present 48-hour week effective Sept. 1, with the same take-home pay.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBRE) made similar demands for the 40-hour week on behalf of its 35,000 members but specified no effective date.

The CBRE also requested a general increase of 10 cents an hour effective July 18, and check-off of union dues from wages of all employees covered by the collective agreement.

"Last year," said the railway statement, "all railway employees received a general wage increase of 17 cents an hour, which meant in effect monthly increases amounting to $3.36 and upwards, for the individual employee. This increase is

New Lieutenant-Governor

The appointment of the Hon. J. J. Bowen as His Majesty's representative in Alberta is a satisfactory and commendable one for two reasons:

First, because the new lieutenant-governor is a citizen of notable distinction and achievement enjoying the respect of the entire province.

Secondly, because he is the first Southern Alberta to be appointed to the high post for nearly 20 years and these honors, in all fairness, should be equitably distributed.

Mr. Bowen succeeds a man who has filled the office with dignity and capacity. For all of the not too distant figures who have occupied the vice-regal position in this province, none has upheld the prestige of the Crown with more grace and kindness than the Hon. John Campbell Bowen.

Mr. Bowen has not only been a capable lieutenant-governor but a well-loved lieutenant-governor, and with his gracious wife, who has performed her no less arduous duties with no less distinction, he has functioned as titular head of the province's government with tact, discretion and unflinching devotion to duty.

There has been a disposition among some people and in some provinces, during late years, to minimize the importance of the lieutenant-governorship.

The tendency is unfortunate and grossly mistaken.

The monarchy is the very keystone of the British structure and government giving continuity and permanence to sovereign authority and inspiring in the people a confidence that mere party government cannot afford.

The Monarch who, in the British conception, occupies his throne by the will and grace of God, is constant reminder in people rule it is God who reigns.

This wholesome and conservative conception extends throughout the Commonwealth structure to every office of vice-regality.

And the lieutenant-governor is or should be to the people of Alberta what His Majesty himself would be were he present in person.

The office, then, should be filled by men who are above reproach in every conceivable respect.

Alberta has been fortunate in John Bowen. Alberta will be equally fortunate in his successor.

Protecting Edmonton's Development

The Town Planning Commission has done well to stand firm against the location of an army ordnance depot in an area where it might prevent the orderly development of Edmonton's residential district.

It would be easy to succumb to the flattery inherent in the decision of the department of national defence to bring the depot to Edmonton and seize eagerly upon the offer with little thought for orderly city growth.

For the offer is a flattering one and will mean a great deal to the city.

It will bring to this community a new population of 1,600, an annual payroll of $2,500,000 and possibly up to 600 new homes.

These are substantial gains whose losses cannot be ignored.

Traffic Squad Needs More Men

Edmonton's traffic has shown such a tremendous increase that any attempt to control it with a traffic squad of 11 men is nothing short of ridiculous.

The motor car registration in this city has doubled itself from 10,000 to 20,000 in three years.

Up to June 20, there were 1,287 traffic accidents this year, in which 104 persons were injured and 10 persons killed.

Total traffic fatalities for all 1948 were only seven.

Summons for traffic violations average about 200 per month.

Eleven men cannot possibly control a

But the improper location of the depot and headquarters area could have cost Edmonton a great deal in lost gains in encroachment upon residential areas planned in a convenient and orderly fashion.

The Town Planning Commission is to be commended for putting first things first. It is to be commended for the diligence in seeking out a new site when the proposed Westmount site was deemed unsatisfactory.

But it appears now, the depot will be located either near the Dunvegan yards or immediately north of O'Leary.

The Town Planning Commission has functioned well and usefully in these negotiations and has shown what expert town planning can do when it is given a fair chance to do it.

But if everyone have 30 days' paid leave a year and he can take his holidays when he wants them! In that way can be avoided the confusion of having everyone off at the same time.

Edmonton.

Wealth, Poverty Sharp Contrasts In Modern Italy

PHILPOTT

NICE, France.—We have finished our Italian visit, which took us to Genoa and Milan, as well as other Northern cities. We find we have already started the journey by side to a degree new.

It was like coming half home to come back to France. And now we both are eager to get back to Britain—to really visit the country we have known.

The main impression I got from Italy was the striking contrast. Wealth and poverty exist side by side to a degree new.

On every hand you see proof of the renewed vitality of the capitalist side of the Italian economy.

We saw more new building in Italy than in any other country. We saw more new houses in London, Paris and the other countries through which we have passed, excluding Belgium and Switzerland.

Yet almost every wall in Northern Italy is plastered with political slogans and in at least nine out of ten are Communist.

Farm Strikes.—There were widespread strikes of farm laborers in Italy while we were there. I saw the crowds of these strikers gathering. They looked like earnest, disappointed men.

Once coming over the Alps our big bus could not get through the pin turn without shutting back and forward several times. There were no Italian farmers, but that particular turn, and quite a number of the country, were gathered.

I have never seen anywhere more calm or intelligent-looking men than the Italian strikers. In an earlier article the magnificent new green marble head office building of a Italian corporation. Later, we got quite a kick when we noted the old building of the same corporation, which was originally built in the Fascist line.

Italy is not a country where you would tell us or show us where the money is.

Most Americans that we met attributed the hostility in Italy to the Italian people. But there is a marked difference in attitude in Italy and Germany.

In Germany, the British were nearly less popular than the Yanks.

Yanks.—There was the most striking blight of the ordinary Italian people.

Bus drivers work in pairs on the long runs. That is, two of them will take a bus to a town, they will take from eight in the morning to eight in the evening, work every day of the year—so long as they can hold the job. Their pay is $40 per month. Yet prices are about the same as in Canada.

All the American travellers we have met agree with us that they liked Italy. But they all agreed that it was a hard sell to Americans in Italy.

We always got on much better with the Italian people than we did with the Americans (which we always did as quickly as possible). But we did not refer to the above to the general European custom of jacking up the price when they see a foreigner.

ODDS AND ENDS

More Danger in City Than in Heart of Jungle

The grumblings of the fact that we have now entered the pre-election period during which the Dominion Election Act forbids the wearing of election ribbons or buttons.

When the smoke is cleared away from the hustings, someone should get busy and remove these archaic notes from this portion of legislation.

Presumably an election button is regarded, in law, as an object which so excites the party passions that it might lead to rioting on the village green.

Judging from voting in some previous elections, rioting on the village green is not what we need to stir up public interest.

Klan Denies Mob Action

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 23.—(UP)—Leaders of Alabama Ku Klux Klan denied today that their members had any part in recent mob action in the Birmingham area and planned to fight proposed legislation to ban public wearing of masks.

Meanwhile, Grand Dragon Samuel Green of the Association of Georgia Klans said in Atlanta that he believed an offshoot "bohemian organization" is causing all the trouble.

ANTI-MASK BILL

Alabama Klan leaders denied responsibility for the 11 reported outbreaks near Birmingham as a state legislative committee unanimously approved the anti-masking bill.

The Alabama Senate has already passed the measure. The house will probably vote on it early next week.

Green, leader of the south's largest Klan organization, blamed an offshoot organization in Birmingham, Ga., near Atlanta state line for the disturbances in Birmingham.

"I ran a little investigation over there," Green said, "and it looks to me like the bohemian organization down in Columbus is causing all the trouble, not the Federated Klans of Alabama."

2 CSU Members Penalized For Disobedience

MONTREAL, June 23.—(CP)—Two seamen, George Noseworthy and Lionel St. Laurent, pleaded guilty yesterday to disobeying the lawful commands of the captain of the freighter Caribbean in Cuba, April 17 to 20. Fifteen seamen made a similar plea last week.

On the application of defence counsel, they were sentenced to the same penalty as imposed on the 15 last week: discharge from the ship, two days' jail and forfeiture of 10 days' pay.

eventually form part of a nationwide system. It is my hope that, as they develop, it will be possible for them to lay stress on information and more knowledge, less emphasis on the book of the month and more on the book of the day.

Gov't Aid Sought For Exmoor's Bleak Acres

BRISTOL, England, June 23.—(CP)—Farm leaders want government help to get Exmoor's bleak acres back into food production.

The Exmoor survey disclosed that on five farms out of six in the area profits are less than the market value of the land used in operating them. Only one in three can make a profit with adequate roads. Most farmers still are without electric power and on many of them water facilities are insufficient although rainfall averages high.

Experts say dairy farming is not and unsuitable for it got Exmoor farmers in the red. Farmers preferred the monthly milk cheque to the less steady income from cattle production. And Exmoor is deemed to be essentially cattle country.

To get Exmoor out of its difficulties, farm leaders urge government short-term credit to enable farmers to plow up worn-out pastures and seed better types of grass. Already the more enterprising have made a start on re-creating the hill fields, but the cost has been prohibitive to most.

NEW DEMANDS

Agricultural experts say the problems are similar to those of 6,000,000 acres of "marginal" land in England and Wales. They say these areas are capable of rapid improvement provided proper farming methods are introduced and the pump primed with fresh capital.

Bristol University and Somerset National Farmers' Union have completed a survey of Exmoor problems. Their report has given rise to new demands that Britain pay more attention to her own neglected lands as a source of food and to the export of development in far-away places.

Owners Think UMW May Stagger Strike

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., June 23.—(UP)—Coal operators said today they believe John L. Lewis may try to "stagger" strike action by his miners over the next two months if contract negotiations fail.

They said that by striking various segments of the industry at different times, Lewis probably could forestall any government efforts to obtain a Taft-Hartley anti-strike injunction against his United Mine Workers.

HARD TO PROVE

The operators agreed that a staggered walkout would make it difficult for the government to prove in court that the UMW stoppage imperiled national health and safety.

The present soft coal contract expires June 30. But under the Taft-Hartley act, a union must maintain the status quo for at least 60 days after giving notice of contract termination.

NEGOTIATIONS OPEN

Under these circumstances, operators said, Lewis will be free to strike on June 30 only in southern mines owned by members of the Southern Coal Producers Association. The status quo provision of the law, they said, would compel the miners to work in U.S. Steel "captive" mines until July 15, in other southern commercial mines until Aug. 14, and in the anthracite pits until Aug. 15.

Lewis and representatives of the northern and western mine owners began preliminary talks on a new contract here yesterday. The producers have indicated that it is now up to Lewis to present them with his formal wage demands.

ANONYMITY REMOVED

Lifer Writes History In Gambles With Life

OSSENING, N.Y., June 23.—(AP)—By gambling with his life, a Sing Sing prisoner has helped write medical history.

Ever today, doctors are waiting to see if he will live or die as a result of the latest experiment for which he volunteered.

The dramatic story which 40-year-old Louis Boy has played in major medical tests was given in detail for the first time yesterday.

Some of his deeds had been told previously, but he had remained anonymous. Authorities had not disclosed that the same man had figured in several tests —any of which might have killed him.

Boy is serving a life term for his part in the 1931 murder in New York of a garage cashier. He was convicted with two other men, but Boy's sentence was commuted in 1932 by Franklin D. Roosevelt, then governor.

In 1942, the government was testing alibis as a weapon against malaria. To determine if the drug was poisonous, Boy volunteered to take it. It didn't hurt him. Later, millions of service men in the war used the drug to stave off malaria.

In 1943, a "guinea pig" was needed in which to test a new influenza vaccine. Boy again volunteered, and escaped possible death.

Several weeks ago, in a last-ditch attempt by doctors to save the life of a small girl dying of leukemia, Boy submitted to a blood exchange during which he took a quantity of the child's infected blood into his own body.

The girl later died. Doctors say Boy seems all right, but they may be months before they know if he will survive.

ON SPORT

Ducey Reverses His Field

John Ducey, who oftentimes prides himself on being "a stubborn Irishman," relented yesterday and welcomed into the Eskimos' fold one Albert Superstein.

The latter, of course, prides himself on being able to track down the errant fly ball.

Signing of the reluctant (to this point) Superstein took place in Ducey's office just at mid-afternoon. In the absence of newspapermen and cameramen Ducey settled for just phoning the big news to the daily blurb and radio stations once "Soop" had reached by—used—and then handed back the fountain pen.

"We were badly in need of an outfielder. Games were being lost as a result," the Esk general manager candidly explained. Not more than 10 days ago Ducey had announced that "under no circumstances" would he sign Superstein.

But the ups and downs of a pennant race have a way of making even general managers change their minds. Recent Esk reverses, particularly at the hands of the Cubs, virtually forced the Ducey hand on this one.

No More Being Homesick

For his part Superstein finally agreed to make road trips with his new-found Eskimo mates. At least Ducey says he did.

Earlier this was one of the points of difference. On previous occasions (several times) they sat down to talk it over the fleet fly-hawk, while insisting that he "wanted to play ball," balked at the week-end jaunts to Calgary.

He pleaded pressure of business.

Now it would appear this hurdle has been cleared.

Superstein handled the centre-field chores as Eskimos edged Cubs 4-3 in a lulu of a contest at Renfrew Park last night. It was noticeable that Esk manager Ralph Morgan no longer was afraid to look when a Cub rapper contrived to drive the ball to the outermost confines of the playing field.

With Dave Brockie in left field, the "soused-up" Superstein in centre and Cliff Johnson at the other picket, patrol duties were better handled for a change.

There have been changes this season when Morgan must have been pretty certain his flycatchers were skeptical that what they were chasing were flying saucers, rather than baseballs.

Good Ad For Brooklyn System

Hard-luck guy in last night's clambake was "Oom Paul" Peterson, the strongguy who came green out of the hills around Rocky Mountain House not so many years back.

Peterson is a much improved pitcher since being taken under the wing of Brooklyn Dodgers in the spring of 1948. After a 15-month hitch in Branch Rickey's farm system the newly acquired Cub moundman at least has a clue as to where the strike zone is located.

On one occasion in the 1947 season Peterson started a game at Renfrew Park. That night he walked around like nine men in the first inning. Later, on his way to the showers, he unwittingly locked himself under the stands.

It wasn't until the stands began to swing and sway under the night of the Peterson muscles that someone heard his howling and released him.

But that's another story.

Formerly addicted to just rarin' back and letting fly, Peterson has learned to work slowly—too slowly, the more impatient of his customers might suggest.

But on him the stately pace looks good. He should win many a game for Les Edwards' league leaders.

Gibbons' Double Gives Buffs Win

CALGARY, June 23—(CP)—Ron Gibbons' two-bagger to centre field with two out in the last half of the ninth inning drove home pitcher Bob Garrett to beat Purty 4-3 tonight in a grimly fought Big Four Baseball league game here last night.

Only a slim crowd saw Buffs mark up their second victory in as many days by identical score, the job being done on the solid pitching of Bob (Stretch) Garrett who took over from Tony Mase after Purty gained a 1-0 lead in the second inning.

Mase gave up only one safe hit during his spell on the mound but allowed five bases on balls while striking out the same number. Garrett, pitching 6 1/3 innings, allowed only two more safeties to the Purty fans, fanned a couple and gave away a walk.

Young Al Byman, who looked like a winning pitcher until Buffs came from behind to tie the score in the eighth, allowed eight hits, struck out five and walked the same number.

Purty went ahead in the second. Granato scored, but Buffs got back in the third, a walk, a sacrifice error and a long fly scoring three runs. Then Purty stepped ahead on Leroy Bernardo's two-run homer in the fourth.

The situation stayed unchanged until the eighth when Buffs came through with a rally that tied the count.

Garrett drew a base on balls to set the stage for the winning run, scoring from second when Gibbons drove the ball to deep centre.

It was a stormy game with manager Bill Peterson of Purty getting the heave-ho from base umpire Ed Corbett for a two-out performance in the sixth frame. Manager Jim Gibson of Buffs escaped the same fate by a narrow margin.

President J. Walter Morris of the Big Six league announced the penalty against Ron Rogers of the Sheraton-Imperial club. Morris also fined Rogers $50.

Who Says Eskimos Can't Beat Cubs? They Do, 4-3

Eskimos aren't going to beat the Cubs at all this season? That's a silly idea. As a matter of fact manager Ralph Morgan's hired help turned the trick at Renfrew Park just last night.

Score was 4-3.

The schemozie went 10 innings. Ed (Lefty) Bolter, pint-sized gamester of the Esk mound crowd took on "Oom Paul" Peterson, late of Billings (but not of Hisebe-Douglas), in one of the finest hurling duels of the current semester.

Left-fielder (and thereby gamester) Dave Brockie's long double drive in nose other than Albert Superstein with the winning run just about the time the rain-ripped curtain was threatening to develop into even more of a nuisance than it already was.

Twice in the early going umpire-in-chief Riley (Moore) Mullen gave away before the rain and declared a 30-minute recess. But the clouds finally rolled away and the last six innings were played in jig time.

Game served as the 1949 debut for Superstein. To this point the fleet outfielder has been agreeing to disagree with management of the Cubs and Eskimos in turn.

Playing his protracted siege of having hard to get came to an end yesterday afternoon. He was called into audience by one John Ducey, general manager of the Eskimos, and before he could get away again GM Ducey had thrust a fountain pen into his hand and Superstein "OK" was on a playing form.

By way of celebrating his unveiling Soop got untracked for one hit in four trips, scored two runs. As a result Roka are in a virtual tie for second place with Calgary Purty.

Peterson showed himself a much improved pitcher over his efforts some years ago. The time is spent in organized baseball has done him a great deal of good.

As a result Roka are in a virtual tie for second place with Calgary Purty.

Site Undesirable For Hall of Fame

KINGSTON, Ont., June 23—(CP)—An application to city council for permission to build an international hockey hall of fame in this city park has been withdrawn. It was announced yesterday.

James B. Garvin, president of the hockey hall of fame, and vice president D. G. McLaughlin, who had operated in the left pasture much of the time to this point, drawing his release.

Morgan also benched 18-year-old Bill Grier and turned the third base chores over to general handyman Ed Roka.

Cubs opened on a high note. Left-hitter Harry Robertson (What a name for the stage) stepped to left on the first pitch, went to second on a passed ball and scored the opening run when "Slim" Ciovinshi slugged a homer off the fence in the second inning.

Eks were right back to knot the count in the second inning, a base-on-balls to Cliff Johnson.

Three-Run Homer

Beverly whipped Mac's Olters 7-1 in a midge baseball game played at Diamond Park last night. Don Taylor scored a three-run homer for the winners in the fifth inning.

Quebec Spotlight Of Final Drive

St. Laurent Declines Support Of Ind. Liberal Candidates

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Political leaders are rolling out their final election appeals as June 27 voting date draws near.

The campaign spotlight centred last night on Quebec province, with both Prime Minister St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew on a hunt for votes in the French-speaking province. CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell is campaigning in his home Saskatchewan riding of Rosetown-Biggar.

Mr. St. Laurent, speaking in Three Rivers and neighboring points, called upon Liberals to vote for official party candidates rather than those who run under an independent-liberal label. He did not want to be "an autocrat," but "one" who candidates can compromise our victory.

TORIES FAITHFUL
Mr. Drew, speaking part of the time in French, campaigned in the Montreal district and promised that a government under his leadership would be faithful to the spirit and letter of the constitution.

"National sovereignty, provincial autonomy, the liberty and initiative of French-Canadians," he said, "will be fully preserved by my government. The policies that my government will put into effect."

Mr. Coldwell, campaigning on the drought-battered prairie plains, accused the Liberal administration of ignoring the need for crop insurance to protect prairie farmers from drought.

PERSISTENT INACTION
"In the face of disaster that drought can bring in Western Canada," he said at Broderick, Sask.

THIS WOMAN'S BOGUS TEARS PAY OFF WELL

CHICAGO, June 23.—(UP)—Bogus tears, turned on when a gunman demanded her money, not only saved Mrs. Josephine Halper a few dollars but earned her another one—from the gunman's pocket. Mrs. Halper found the bandit in her kitchen. She began to cry. He told him she was broke and "staring." He lowered his gun, fished a dollar from his pocket, threw it on the kitchen table and ran out the back door.

'Hopper War Is A Success

WINNIPEG, June 23.—(CP)—Manitoba's war against grasshoppers involving 25 municipalities and several hundred spraying machines has been "outstandingly successful" in its initial stages, the provincial department of agriculture reported today.

Casualties among the hoppers has run as high as 100 for every square foot in the heavily sprayed areas.

HOUSING INJECTED
Allaire Stewart, CCF member of the last house for Winnipeg North, injected housing into the campaign with a CBC broadcast from Winnipeg in which he advocated the building of slum areas by building of local homes.

He attacked the Liberal government for permitting construction of theatres and garages when the money should have been spent on low-cost homes so that "the poor may live in dignity."

At Leamington, Sask., Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the Dominion "probably" will start work next year on a $60,000,000 irrigation project on the South Saskatchewan river, but added: "First we want all the facts and all the answers."

Instinct Said Motive Of Farm Management

VANCOUVER, June 23.—(CP)—Canada's "slide-rule farmers" listened yesterday to a declaration that "90 per cent of the farmers never heard of a 'marginal productivity curve' on the 'law of diminishing returns.'"

The hallmarks of the slide-rule farmers' management and solve the special economic problem which may confront him.

OTHER PANELS
Other panel discussion among the 300 delegates involved special techniques developed by Dominion Experimental Farm scientists.

QUICK REBUTTAL
Quick with rebuttal was Prof. W. J. Anderson of the University of British Columbia, who had delivered the initial paper on "Economics and Farm Management Research."

He hastened to assure the Major that he was well aware farms generally are managed by instinct. The Winnipeg delegate said further there are too many factors—such as soil conditions, unpredictability of animals and sentimentality to permit managing farms by charts.

Prof. Anderson said, however, "It is the place of the agricultural engineer to educate the farmer in the use of the slide rule."

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAY came to two persons, riding in the car at right, in Rensselaer, N.Y., when a truck laden with cotton bales overturned. These rescuers, after 30 minutes work, got the victims out. The accident occurred on the approach to a Hudson River bridge linking Rensselaer with Albany.

Keyhole Testimony Heard In Dope Underworld Trial

VANCOUVER, June 23.—(CP)—Shadows of a strange underworld life through police court here where 10 men are being tried on charges of conspiring to distribute narcotics.

It is the largest case of its kind in Canada's history and was preceded by what RCMP describe as the most widespread investigation ever undertaken in the narcotics field.

Charged are Dan Gasberini, Steve Bohach, Jake Goldfarb, Frank and John Smolker, Irving Hock, Nick Agostino, Benny Ugar, Mike Kushman and Carmen Chiovetti.

KEYHOLE REPORTS
Evidence so far has been confined to verbatim recitations by RCMP constables of conversations they allege they procured from the defendants while lying sprawled in adjoining hotel rooms, their ears pressed to the keyhole of a connecting door.

That recitation includes a strange slang, fantastic verbiage, plots, methods of mixing narcotics for eventual distribution and illegal sale as well as education for the initiated in the trade.

Three of the 10 accused were arrested in eastern Canada—two in Toronto and one in Hamilton. One was arrested as he stepped from a plane just in from Calgary.

MIXING DETAILS
One portion alleged that Bohach was taken in for training in mixing "copping up" the narcotics. He was ordered, the narration

B.C. Hedges Bid For New Rates

25-50 Year Deadline Set For Freight Rate Change

VICTORIA, June 23.—(CP)—The British Columbia government today proposed a radical change in the fixing of railway freight rates. But its chief witness before the royal commission on transportation hedged it around with a number of qualifications.

As yet-out in a government brief, the proposal called for the setting of rates on the basis of the cost to the government of the railways of hauling freight—on which the government would be liable to a uniform level of rates across the country. Under the present system, shippers would be charged according to the value of the service given them or "what the traffic will bear."

Under cross-examination, the government witness, E. Brown, assistant director of the bureau of economic and statistical—admitted that the theory would be subject to these qualifications:

"It might not be possible to achieve it in less than 25 or 30 years for fear of collecting too much money through the railways."

"There would have to be variations in some rates to enable the railways to meet competition and the government for handling of certain commodities."

COST-OF-SERVICE
But generally, Mr. Brown said, should be possible to obtain "mile-for-mile parity" in all sections of the country if the railways adopted the cost-of-service principle. "If adoption is possible, the level of rates would be raised in some sections, because railway operating costs bear a close relationship to the volume of traffic hauled. The brief's contention on this point is that the general railway claim that a large portion of rail

REGIONAL PRESSURE

But the government proposed subsidies for this purpose, declaring they opened the door to "regional pressure. Inter-regional war, feeling, and may at the same time result in disturbing the economic development of the country."

It might not be possible to achieve it in less than 25 or 30 years for fear of collecting too much money through the railways."

"There would have to be variations in some rates to enable the railways to meet competition and the government for handling of certain commodities."

Rainmaker Uncertain If He Began Downpour

TORONTO, June 23.—(CP)—Donald Fraser pushed five pounds of dry ice into a cloud Tuesday and it rained. But now, no one seems to know what caused the rain.

The "rainmaker," a member of the National Research Council in Ottawa, came here two days ago to help a helicopter land on a roof. He was assisted by Kenneth Pettit of the meteorological bureau and piloted by P. L. Bab. Christie of Ottawa, he flew to a height of 15,000 feet and dropped the ice.

RAINED HARD
When the plane landed, it was raining hard at Malton airport and considerably cooler than the 34 degrees registered earlier.

Mr. Fraser checked the area of rainfall later and found it too widespread for the amount of ice he used. At the time of the experiment, the sky was cloudy and threatened rain.

"It wasn't an accident," Fraser said, "but there is no way to check accurately whether we really started it."

He explained the "rainmaker" procedure, he said that dry ice, dropped into a cloud from a height where its conditions prevail, attracts moisture. The ice gets heavier and falls. At a lower altitude, it melts and "you have a raindrop."

Jury Says Death Was Accidental

CALGARY, June 23.—(CP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned by a jury today in the case of an inquest held into the death last June 9 of Donald Earl Walker, 48, of Calgary. Walker was killed when the scaffolding on which he was working collapsed.

The jury found that the cause of death was described as a fracture of the neck caused by fractured ribs penetrating the lung cavity.

U.K. Coal Industry Shows Small Profit

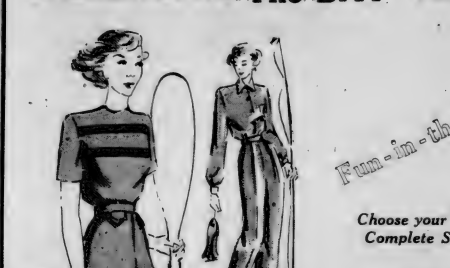

LONDON, June 23.—(Reuters)—Britain's coal-mining industry made a small profit of £1,700,000 ($6,800,000) in 1948—the second year of nationalization—compared with a loss of £23,250,000 the previous year, the National Coal Board announced yesterday. The board said the industry had been enabled to reach the financial position it occupies today by the government's Economic Recovery Program.

The annual report of the board, which runs the industry, said that from the marketing point of view, exemption of regular coal exports was the "most important feature of the year." The export total of 16,000,000 tons compared with the target of 15,000,000 tons.

In addition, an unexpected 1,200,000 tons were sent to Spain and Finland and another 1,700,000 tons to countries outside Europe, mainly Canada, Argentina and Brazil. By December, 1948, Britain was shipping more coal to the United States than it was receiving from the United States was sending.

British May Imports Highest on Record

LONDON, June 22.—(CP)—Britain's imports exceeded exports by $37,500,000 ($121,000,000) in May, showing a drop in the adverse balance compared with April but a rise compared with the first three months of the year.

May imports totalled $191,800,000, the Board of Trade announced. May exports were $154,300,000.

Exports to Canada climbed to $2,500,000 in May, mainly due to heavy automobile shipments. Detailed figures showed that exports to Canada amounted to $2,500,000, twice what they were in May, 1946. The five-month total so far this year is $12,600,000.

Canada retained the best market for British exports in May, taking goods worth $1,500,000. This was a decrease of $200,000 compared with the previous May. Cotton and pottery exports also showed a slight dropping off.

Auto exports to the Dominion at $1,000,000 were twice the May 1946 figure and shipment of electrical goods at $300,000 also doubled.

Grain imports from Canada in May were $61,000,000, about the same as May a year ago but the higher price under the wheat agreement was reflected in payments of $3,317,000 against $2,000,000 in May, 1946.

Woolen imports from the Dominion at $2,200,000 were only a fraction of the 1946 $10,000,000. Value of aluminium imports from Canada was $1,245,000, bringing the five-month 1948 total to $5,000,000, against $3,000,000 for the last three years.

Britain's overall May deficit was despite an export drive which put up the flow of goods overseas to $1,500,000 compared with April. But May imports were the highest on record.

East-West Feud Simmers On Miss Stampede Choice

CALGARY, June 22.—(CP)—There is a new east-west feud simmering in Calgary and Toronto today over which of two pretty western lassies will wear the crown of Miss Calgary Stampede when she underways here July 11.

Winner of the coveted queen title is Miss Marie K. Sizer of Calgary, sponsored by Dr. J. H. St. John, a physician here.

But a group of eastern Canadian "underdogs" are sponsoring their own candidate, Miss Marion Mitchell, also of Calgary—should have won.

SHOE DEALERS HURRY
Announcement last week that the title by a margin of more than 4,000 votes, caused consternation among members of the Canadian Shoe Dealers' Association, who had actively supported Miss Mitchell, candidate for Calgary Girl Town.

It may have been a matter of injured pride with the shoe men, who had publicly vowed to give enough tickets to ensure their choice winning.

Anyway they asked for an recount of the votes. The recount still showed Mrs. Sizer the winner. But accepted, the shoe men continued their protest.

They said by sending votes to both Calgary daily newspapers was "tampering the verdict."

"The ally controversy has gone on long enough," says Peter Sizer, a shoe dealer.

Chameleon-Like Act Of Hair Is Annoying

WORCESTER, Mass., June 22.—(AP)—Roy Crosby, 37, of Sturbridge, has had a fall crop of hair in less than a year ago. What if it were his eyebrows, eyelashes, and most of his beard.

He was held in a jail for four months. Crosby said last October his hair—when it had been dark brown—started growing in again—snow white.

By December he had a full crop of hair. It was white hair.

It has since changed to coal black.

Neither Crosby, his wife, neighbors or doctor can explain the chameleon-like act.

But Roy is happy to have his hair back again.

Labor Sees Employment Improvement

Sidney Parsons, who has the knack of getting himself elected alderman with a regularity that's becoming almost monotonous can always be counted on to come up with a novel suggestion.

Sid's going to spring a new one on Mayor Anley and fellow aldermen one of these nights. He's going to propose a full-time board of aldermen.

That is, he'll move such a motion if City Solicitor Thomas Garside gives legal opinion that such a council would be O.K. under terms of the present city charter.

Ald. Parsons is sick and tired of council meetings that end around midnight, like the one last Monday. He's fed up too with the amount of work that has to be shunted to other meetings.

The business of running the City of Edmonton is big business now and going to get bigger in the future, says Ald. Parsons. He is not reaching decisions on many important matters until his lengthy debate at several meetings.

Complaints are justified but aldermen are certainly not to blame, says Parsons.

WHY THINGS DRAG
Certain items drag along for weeks without being decided because aldermen get little or no opportunity to properly study the business hand, he says.

Many times, aldermen become acquainted with important matters at the time when they are seen on the agenda at a council meeting. Sensible decisions on business is impossible at the time, the alderman says.

Sometimes things do get passed in the City Council, but they are not properly considered.

If aldermen were at their desks in the morning, he says, they would be a lot different, he says. It would be a lot different, he says. It would be a lot different, he says.

Mr. Berg says a fine type of survey have been made in Edmonton from every section of the Dominion of late seeking work in the oil fields, building, construction trades.

In co-operation with the Edmonton employment service, regulation of all Canadians seeking work in the oil fields is being carried out in Mr. Berg's office.

"We now have a sufficient supply of labor to meet all needs," he said.

Manning Sees Sacred Need
Promises of continuing development of Alberta's natural resources in the best interests of the citizens of this province was expressed in a pre-election radio speech last night by Premier E. C. Manning.

Mr. Manning spoke in support of Social Credit candidates for federal and provincial offices.

HECKLERS COME TO LIFE AS CANDIDATES SPEAK

Election campaign here, lukewarm hitherto, boiled over in boos and heckling last night.

Ten candidates for Edmonton's federal seats addressed a Memorial Hall meeting of the Mont. Gamery Branch of the Canadian Legion, outlining their party policies on veterans affairs, pension and housing.

Prof. Macdonald, East Edmonton federal nominee, was charged for questioning from members of the 100-person audience and had to leave the hall.

He was questioned from the floor after he had endorsed the party's veterans' allowances and pension, subsidizing housing and reconstruction of the veterans' standing committee in Common.

WILL NOT CHANGE
"Will you change your mind if you are told to do so by your party?" W. J. Williams asked the candidate.

Mr. Macdonald replied he would maintain his opinion regardless of party policies, except if the position, for the purpose of embarrassing the government, forced his vote in support of the government.

Other Legion members attempted to shout down his questioner. "I just want to know if you will jump the way you are ordered to jump," Mr. Williams insisted.

Mr. Williams charged West Edmonton Liberal nominee George Prudham with opposition to the scheme to bring Dawson Creek army huts to Edmonton as an emergency housing measure.

Mr. Prudham said he believed the money involved in renovating the huts could be spent more effectively on permanent housing plans.

"I am all of that opinion, but I did not at any time voice opposition to the scheme to the government," he said.

ENDORSE PROPOSALS
Endorsing four of the five veteran benefit proposals made by the Legion, Mr. Prudham said he did not favor subsidized housing.

"Subsidies are a bonus people don't want to be subsidized," he said. He advocated encouragement of home ownership in low income brackets by lower N.R. loans, smaller down payments and reduced interest rates, and urged government and industry cooperation in meeting housing needs.

Housewife addressed the meeting. Mr. Milner said that "one way or another we must make it possible for the people to have a home."

Industrial Study Of Red Deer Ended

Central Alberta City Has 215 Industries

By Pat McVean
Bulletin Staff Reporter
The city of Red Deer has Alberta's most fertile soil, an annual average of 140 rainy or snowy days, 215 industries and businesses of 67 various types, and a colorful history.

All this information is contained in a comprehensive report of an economic survey made of the city by officials of the provincial department of economics.

The report is designed to provide full information to concerns contemplating opening businesses in the central Alberta town, and to promote development of new industries there.

A similar survey is now being made of the Drumheller district, and other surveys will be made in the near future in Camrose and Stettler districts.

Recently the department will survey all towns, cities, villages and hamlets in the province.

REPORT READY
Reports of the Red Deer survey are now available on request from the department. Other reports will be made available as soon as they are completed.

Dealing with topographical aspects of the city the report states fertility of soils in the zone is the highest in the province, with a 12-inch top layer of soil containing about three to four times as much nitrogen and organic matter as there is in the average brown or grey wooded soil.

Mean temperature is 62 degrees in July and 87 degrees in December. The city has about 60 days in the year, and snow falls about 60 days each year, giving an annual average of 140 rainy or snowy days.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Delightful Shops Display Luxuries

By Bea Thrift

Whirlwind of riotous activity has kept me rushing hither, thither and yon . . . from one beautiful Vancouver tourist's delight to another.

But I've just persevered in taking time out to meander through some of the completely delightful shops.

You'd simply love to spend your time and money in these shops of fascinating little places where, in quiet, elegant and practically everything you could think of . . . is sold and displayed.

This morning I strolled down Howe street and found myself lost in a wonder world of beautiful china and pottery. There I found on beautiful delftware in price from one thousand dollars right down to 25 cents.

Some of the jewels more within my Osheseyan limited-budget might interest you too. Shall I tell you about them?

I snapped open the purse right pronto when I spied a lovely dark, pale green living . . . selling for $3.

It measured a diameter of ten inches and would be the perfect answer to my centrepiece problems for ages in ages of time. Some of the finest were oval and some round. An assortment of colors was available.

A tiny hold-the-throwsall shop simply delighted me with its casual display of random and beautiful painted articles. A set of best china . . . or what have you . . . in amber, was a very elegant set of the gayest of the Gibson girl smiling from one and her husband's head leaning from another. These sold at $2.95 each.

Others in the hand-painted assortment were varicolored with flowers splashed across their surfaces. These too sold at $2.95 each.

Large round trays, made in Japan of baked wave material caught my fancy to the tune of $3.50. These were enameled in beautiful bright colors . . . some midnight blue . . . some ocean waves, some red . . . very smart, very useful and very fetching.

One thing I learned . . . some fringe-holding ceramic glass bowls, some of which were actually made from Japanese fish.

They're used to keep the net in place and when they slip their moorings, gradually float into the shop.

They're used in centrepiece arrangement with varied rows in gold fish bowls and to a great extent in advertising displays.

Large and small linen shirts, yesterday's model, although I think we have a fair share of linen shirts right at home.

I saw dainty, fragile opal plate made with pastel applied to glass, and I thought I'd just think how they'd look on your lovely mahogany dining table.

The small fry of my acquaintance will soon live in the daily washing, behind the easy chair. I'm bringing back sets of Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck . . . each one of them. They sell at $1.95 per towel and 40 cents per pair.

WHY GROW OLD

Exercises Strengthen Sagging Chin Muscles

By Josephine Lowman

Q. "Please give me a new exercise for the muscles under my chin. I am tired doing the one where I lie on my back with my head and shoulders hanging off the edge. This has helped but I want a new one."

A. Sit in a chair. Hold yourself erect. Place your fingers on your forehead, push from the neck to strengthen those chin muscles.

Q. "I am having trouble with my fingernails. The top layer peels off like chipped nail polish. I have tried nail polish but it doesn't do any good. What should I do?"

A. Drink a quart of milk a day and take vitamin D daily.

Q. "In one of your columns you mentioned that moles can be removed by a dermatologist. I do not know how to locate one. Please tell me how to find one in New York."

A. Call one of your best hospitals and ask them to recommend one on their staff.

Q. "One child of girls decided to send you some of our problems. One girl asked, 'Am I too fat?' I am 16 years old, 5 feet tall and weigh 110 pounds. My bust measures 35 inches, waist, 25 inches, and hips, 35 inches."

A. I would say that you are a bit overweight, however, your measurements are good. You might leave it off—otherwise you should leave it off—otherwise you should leave it off.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Training Is Faster When Child Is Older

By Myrtle Melred

The average mother wants to get the toilet training accomplished early, since it is disagreeable and tiresome to her.

Unfortunately, nature does not cooperate in this plan for each child develops at his own rate of speed and his ability to control himself is no more predictable at any certain age than to assert that he will have as many teeth or will be able to walk or gain as many pounds in weight.

The experience of Mrs. G. H. should be encouraging to those mothers who are skeptical of the success of life training versus early training. She writes, "I have had your column since before the birth of my first baby and I have always found it interesting and sound. I appreciate, especially, your viewpoint on toilet training and also became pregnant when my child was ten months old. I found training difficult."

"So, at twenty months I began to train and within a week there were seldom any accidents. She had enough understanding at that age to know what I wanted of her and she could use a word to express her needs. I never realized that toilet training could be so simple, as my friends started at about a year and struggled for months with poor results. She is perfectly trained, now, and hasn't the slightest antipathy to the toilet seat, since I had no later months to try to make her understand something beyond her capacities."

"One reason, other than the above, for waiting this long to ask you if children at an early age show a definite relation to their size when grown? My husband is over six feet, I am five feet, nine inches. I have read somewhere that at two years a child is one-half his height when grown."

"My girl is bulky, is 36 inches tall and weighs over 40 pounds. I have heard so many remarks about her height that I am sensitive about it. I personally, was a small child until adolescence and then suddenly grew tall. Is my child the monster everyone thinks she is?"

Not a monster, but taller than the tallest child in her age according to charts. She is probably destined to be six feet tall, but as modern children tend to be taller because of good food and exercise, it is not unusual. It is right up there with her.

Our latest No. 37 "The First Year" which contains weight and height charts, may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Melred in care of this newspaper.

There are more ultraviolet rays in afternoon than in morning sunbath.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Wife Often Neglects Family for Her Job

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of wives working outside of their homes?

Will a married woman, who has a good position and makes a good salary, be likely to become so independent that she feels that she can get along without her husband, and become more interested in her work than she is in her home and family?

I think it is all right for a wife to work for a short time after marriage to help her husband. But good start in life but I believe that primarily a wife's real job is to be a cheerful, helpful and loving wife and mother. What is your opinion about this?

ANSWER: Whether a wife should be a career woman or a homemaker depends on so many different things.

On how much money the young couple have. On the natural aptitude and training of the wife. On the wife's temperament and disposition.

And particularly on whether the husband is a domestic and home-loving man or not.

For, after all, even the most enamored can live on bread and cheese and kites, as it is not love's young dream, but cold, hard necessity that makes thousands of women stay married to their desks after marriage.

SOME SHOULDN'T MARRY

We speak of getting married as peaking into a haven of the blessed, but there are millions of women who should never marry because they have no talent for it.

They are the women who succeed in business, but never learn to cook, who are keen on a trade, but never know what their children are doing.

It is a sad and curious thing that so many fine and noble women have gifts for being everything else in the world that is desirable, except being good wives and mothers.

No woman should marry unless her highest ambition is to make a happy home.

Hundred Women Reporters Lead Gay Life at Vancouver Convention

By Dolores Kimball

VANCOUVER, June 23.—I'm wide-eyed in admiration of the convention planned for the Canadian Women's Press club.

Here in Vancouver for this week of club business sessions, well-spiced with entertainment of all kinds, are more than 100 women wielding the quill and scroll in Canadian Journalism, radio and advertising.

There are youngsters of 19 and oldsters of 70 years and everyone is having a whoop-de-do time in this beautiful flower-laden city. We've been busier than the proverbial bee fitting here, there and everywhere in a riotous round of social activity. I've had a rich taste of Vancouver possibilities in the leisure-time swirl of parties. The lovely drive to the breathtakingly beautiful Capilano golf course left me enraptured with delight. The clubhouse itself is a dream of interior decorating done true. And the view... the rolling terraces of the course, the tree thickets sweeping away to the mountain tops... it's truly lovely.

Women Wage Cold War Too

SEATTLE, June 23.—(CP)—The "cold war" extends to the women of Russia and the United States. Mrs. Judge Dorothy Keyson, New York City lawyer observed recently.

She is here for the American Association of University Women convention. Judge Keyson is a member of a United Nations commission for women's rights, and she says she has a hard time trying to convince the Russian women delegates.

EAST MEETS WEST

Exchanging pleasantries with women well-known in world affairs, women from east and west whose names are heard in the way of political events, give me an insight and a nation-wide picture of the important influences of our day.

One completely unimpaired woman, a radio-station manager, also enthusiastically plans to organize a women's group to promote women as politicians, as members of parliament.

In the course of conversation over a pink lemonade she said she intended to organize, province by province this Ottawa-minded group of women whose heart is in the future of Canada.

EDITH'S PRESENT

Byrne Hope Saunders, editor of Chautauque and Mrs. Farquhar, past editor of the Canadian Home Journal and well-known free-lance writer, Mrs. D. W. W. assistant editor of Maclean's Magazine women columnists from coast to coast, all chatted, laughed, argued, discussed matters of the least and the most importance... with every woman member of the press club.

Days have been shock-full of memorable tea, luncheon discussions, cocktail parties, dinners and visits to Vancouver's most notable corners. We've dined from the beautiful Stanley Park to the Capilano Golf Club to the Vancouver Hotel to the Hotel Georgia's Gold Room and into Chinatown for a perfectly delicious 20-course dinner.

OWS AND AHS

Here we dined and ailed as a dinner Chinese girls paraded in the intricately designed costumes of their home nation. We visited the Lulu Island salmon cannery and today managed a trip to Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club for luncheon. From there we went to a Fraser valley show farm for a wonderful visit.

New Styles Bait For Unwary Males

NEW YORK, June 3.—(CP)—Dan Loper, Hollywood dress designer, says women are like the Royal Canadian Mounted Police: "They're always on the look-out to trap a man."

This "trapping" theme is apparent in Loper's first collection of costume models presented here. In fact, one section of the presentation is dubbed "trapping" because of the "above the table" interest of the daytime dresses.

Loper, who forsook his successful stage-dancing career to become a designer, has brought into the drawing room his love of old-world fabrics and his appreciation of tradition. But he has added the subtle touch of a 20th century master.

The theme of his collection is "shades of black," and his aim is to show how different black can look in different fabrics and designs.

LINE REVEALED

Most of his fitted forms revealed natural body lines, in both pencil-line and full skirts. Dipping hemlines and graceful, rhythmic back interests in skirts add a new note for fall. Draped bustles lead a regency fashion.

Skirt lengths are a graceful 12 inches from the floor. Rich fabrics with old-world names—Jacquard tulle, iridescent taffetas, silk broadcloth, velvets, brocades, satins, striped failles and plaids—highlight his collection.

A fitted coat of black-lace broadcloth with velvet front and velvet stripes around the skirt is appropriately entitled "black carriage." Another fitted number—a cocktail dress—of black velvet with decorative collar of heavily-beaded Alencon lace is named "black prince." It has three-quarter-length sleeves with lace-beaded cuffs.

SASKATOON shares interest with Edmonton in the recent marriage of Traute Elizabeth Keding and Russell Woodrow Wilson. The bride is the daughter of Frank R. Keding, and the late Mrs. Keding of Edmonton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson of Saskatoon. They will live in Saskatoon. —Photo by House Studio.

Simpson-Summers Vows Pledged Here

Pink and white peonies and fern banked the altar of St. Andrew's Church for the recent marriage of Joyce Arlene Summers and John Alexander Simpson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Summers, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. C. Simpson, all of Edmonton.

Rev. Fr. M. E. Murphy performed the ceremony, at which the bride was given away by her uncle, R. B. Summers.

Heavy white satin gown with a train, the bride wore a white and blue printed dress with a white hat and corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Brown chose a printed dress in rose and white with a navy blue picture hat and corsage of white roses and blue carnations.

For her wedding the bride wore a suit of white linen complemented with blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was given in marriage by her brother, John Jackson. Women's Influence Stressed by WI Head

SASKATOON, June 23.—(CP)—To become an influence, every organization of women must be effective politically, Mrs. Raymond, Sagre of Ackworth, Iowa, told members of Saskatchewan's home-maker club and the Federated Women's Institute of Canada. Mrs. Sagre, president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, told the delegates they should come to grips with real problems, not foster their egos, and to concentrate on the things for which they were best fitted.

The ACWW group has been given considerable status by the United Nations. It was also all a matter of improving the lot of every woman and to raise their standards.

Police Seek Sneak Thief In Edmonton

Police today are seeking the thief responsible for a seven-man crime wave in northeast Edmonton last night.

Four cases of shopbreaking, which netted $132, are believed to be the work of the same man.

In three instances, a "cheater" was used to gain entrance. This is a slender blade of celluloid which is used to slip the lock.

Kelly Holt of Port Trail, reported the sneakily-worked theft of $45 from his store while he was asleep in the rear.

GEORGE ZUKOWSKI, proprietor of North Edmonton Bike & 1281 Port Trail, notified police of loss of $42. In this case the thief gained entrance by breaking a pane of glass in the rear door and releasing the lock.

Elizabeth Barnes reported theft of $55 from Capital Canteen, 3208 21st avenue.

Theft of $10 from Avenue 60, near 42nd, 2215 avenue, was reported by Peter Anker.

An e-recountable of the Edmonton force, J. H. K. McInerney, may be responsible for thwarting a fifth robbery last night.

He noticed two youths who dashed out of the Club Cafe, 1626 97 street, 3:35 a.m. and he called a policeman on the beat, Constable J. J. Peterson, and gave chase.

PAIR ESCAPES

The disoriented youngsters outran the pair.

Nothing had been stolen from the cafe but the cash register had been moved from its usual place. Police believe the youths were about to attempt to force it when they were frightened. The escape of the e-recountable is believed responsible.

CICA June 23rd, 1949, by

Madam 'J. Boulanger

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have been asked by the Edmonton Women's Liberal Club, to say a few words in favor of our two Liberal candidates for the federal election on June 27. Mr. C. M. Prudham, for Edmonton West, and Mr. Fred MacDonald for Edmonton East.

My dear friends, I must confess that this is my first political speech, however, I have been asked to say a few words in favor of our two Liberal candidates for the federal election on June 27. Mr. C. M. Prudham, for Edmonton West, and Mr. Fred MacDonald for Edmonton East.

I came to Edmonton as a bilingual teacher in 1902. At that time, a newcomer of the name of the people of this fair, growing city, speak of the memorable events of Sept. 1st, 1902, when Alberta was incorporated as a province, and Edmonton proclaimed its capital.

I am sure all the old-timers who are listening to me, are aware, that if Edmonton, today, is the capital of Alberta, we owe it to the late Hon. Frank Oliver, member for Edmonton in the Liberal cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

These great Liberal chiefs of past years, had vision, as they delved into the future, for it is not Edmonton fast becoming one of the larger cities of Canada.

The Liberal party of today has not changed. It has not changed either its policy or its name. It was, and it still remains the great party of the Canadian people. The Liberal rule of Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the Liberal rule of Sir Louis St. Laurent's programme, and the one which he proclaims, in English and French, throughout the ten provinces, may be summed in three words: PEACE, PROSPERITY, and NATIONAL UNITY. We must have peace, for without peace, there is no prosperity. We must have prosperity, for without prosperity, there is no "bonne entente", no national unity.

We, as Canadians, must unite and work together, to uphold the greatness of our country, so that Canada shall keep its enviable position among other nations, a position required under the Liberal government of Hon. Mackenzie King.

Let us not forget, ladies and gentlemen, that the Liberal government has to its credit a record of legislation that has benefited the people of Canada.

- (1) Increased family allowances.
- (2) Reduction of income tax on the revenue.
- (3) Increased old-age pensions.
- (4) Increased pension for veterans.
- (5) Unemployment Insurance.

The principal aim of my little talk is this: Edmonton should be Liberal. On June 27, let us, one and all, vote for Prudham, Edmonton West, and for MacDonald, Edmonton East. In voting thus, we shall ensure Edmonton's superiority in the Federal cabinet, who will replace our devoted ex-minister, Hon. James Mackintosh, who has been elevated to the Senate.

Ladies and gentlemen, the fight is on: Is it bitter, we must win. Monday, June 27, let us vote to assure a Liberal victory.

O Victory! Thy name is sweet.
We see thee beckon and allure
The Liberals, who soon shall meet.
'Tis the great Tow' where Peace endures.

Approved by The Edmonton Liberal Association.

Armed Robberies Believed Solved

City Vet Gets 3 Years For Series of Crimes

Series of Edmonton street crimes was solved last night when Irwin Lester Terrance Teague, 23, of Edmonton, pleaded guilty to two charges of armed robbery, one of breaking and entering, and one of robbery.

The 23-year-old veteran admitted his part in the armed robbery of a hotel in July 9, 1948, in which four masked men took nearly $100 in cash from the night clerk.

He also admitted robbing elderly Fred Dandur at Keppell's 877 the day before.

SENTENCED 7 p.m.

Two-year-old crime was solved when he pleaded guilty to robbing the same man of a $60 watch.

He was sentenced at 7 p.m. last night by Magistrate McCulla to three years on each charge of armed robbery and six months for each of the other two.

In police court this morning he was sentenced to two years when he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Kingsway football park, 100 street and Kingsway, on Monday night.

All four sentences will run concurrently.

OFFICE RANSACKED

Court was told he stole two cartons of cigarettes from the ball park. Manager's office was ransacked in search of money.

"You thought you were just too smart for the police," Magistrate Miller told the young man this morning. "But now you have found out you are not."

Asking that his sentence on the breaking and entering charge be made concurrent with the other sentences, court prosecutor Mason stated Teague has a good work record.

HAD COMPANIONS

Had his companions he got a job as a taxi driver. Prosecutor said he had companions met while driving down Kingsway last night.

Teague's crimes. Accused was raised at Keppell.

He was picked up earlier by RCMP officers for questioning in connection with a series of crimes. He is believed at first to have been connected with them but later denied.
